

HOW TO MOVE THE GAME PIECES AND KEEP SCORE

How to move the game pieces

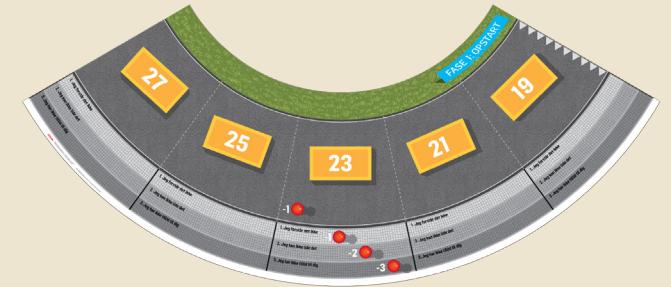

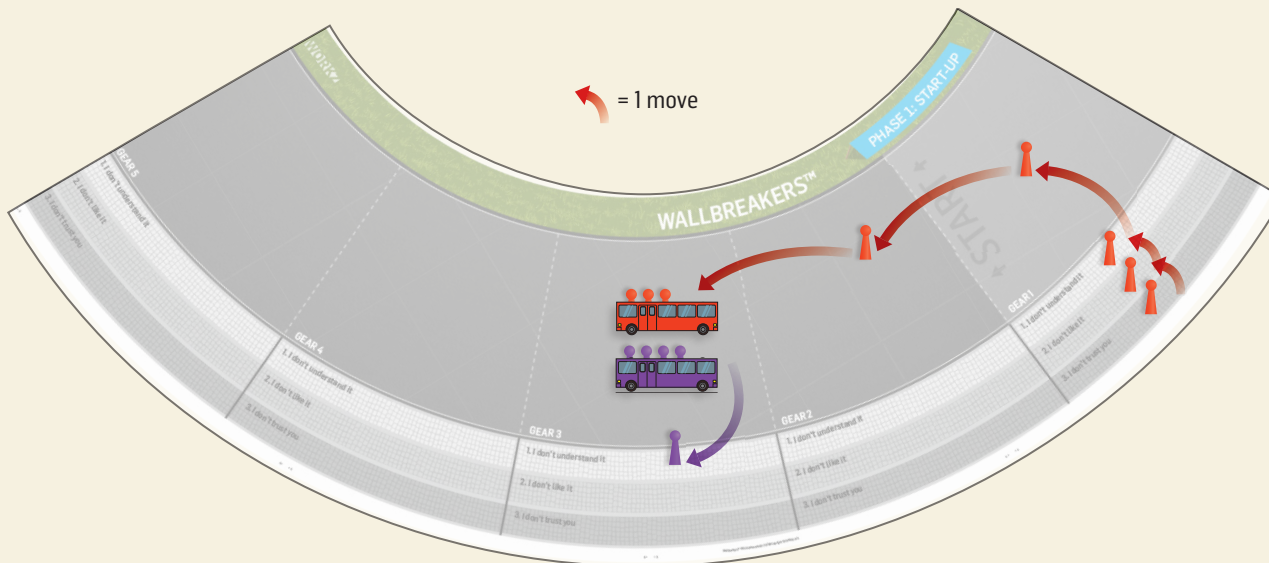

Gear card: When the gear has been chosen, some of the game pieces must be removed from the bus as a consequence of gear choice before moving the bus. Game pieces that have been removed from the bus must be placed in one of the resistance levels next to the square of the bus. The gear card will tell you which resistance levels to place the game pieces in. After this, you move the bus according to gear choice. Next step is the action cards.

Action cards: Opening an action card, you will be instructed how to move the game pieces again. Depending on the instructions given in the action card, there are three ways the game pieces can be moved:

- 1) A game piece can be moved directly onto the bus.
- 2) A game piece can be moved closer to the bus. This move is illustrated by the red game piece and bus.

3) A game piece can be removed from the bus. This move is illustrated by the purple game piece and bus.

Next phase: At the end of a phase, some game pieces can be standing on the road. Move these game pieces onto the bus and move the bus to the starting position of the next phase. Game pieces that end a phase in a certain resistance level must begin the next phase in the same resistance level.

How to keep score

Points per group for gear: 1:19, 2:21, 3:23, 4:25, 5:27. Minus points are given to every employee who is on the roadway or in resistance.

- For every employee on the roadway: -1
- For every employee in resistance 1: -1
- For every employee in resistance 2: -2
- For every employee in resistance 3: -3

You add your points up for each phase.

Points per phase: Take the points from your bus' position on the road (see illustration) and subtract 1 point for each game piece in resistance one, 2 points for each game piece in resistance 2, and 3 points for each game pieces in resistance 3.

Bonus: If there are eight or more game pieces left on the bus after playing all of the four action cards you are allowed to move the bus one square forward on the road.

Total score: The sum of points from each of the three phases.
